Murderers and Robbers Lynched Man's Throat Cut.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 18.—600 citizens and officers are after the murderers of the Rev. Thomas P. Ryan, who was near Walton, Roane county, this state Thursday night. Friday George Duff killed by vigilantes and Saturday Jake who said he was from the west and one brother of James Duff, were caught. Duff and his brother were taken to the house of Mary McEwen, a sister of the late John McEwen, and Duff and his brother cut their throats out from ear.

James and Dick Skyns and Sam. Red were two others of the mob, were wounded by robbers Friday night when the attack was made.

Another Lynching.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 18.—A lynching was held at this place, the victim charged with having been the instigator of robbery of Rev. Ryan and others, in this city, in 1894. The victim was taken and lynched, last night, by the vigilantes. Excitement still runs high and it is feared that others are to be arrested for the murder of Rev. Ryan. Duff was shot one of the men who went to his band and cut his throat, at last night. This is a remembrance of the young lady who teacher you, who killed her husband.

The Bath in Persia.

The St. James' Gazette, telling of the of the ladies of the Orient, says: The bath takes up a good deal of the time of the ladies of the Orient.

and the haman at least once a week. For the purpose of washing the hair, the victim of life, and take up daily from two to three hours of her time. It is something more our idea of a bath. The victim is scrubbed and parboiled. The soles of the feet are rubbed with a piece of soap as thick as those of a little child. The hair is thoroughly washed by means of hot water and the soap. Then the attendants mix in a bra-bow aromatic henna with the requisite amount of lemon juice, and the mixture, as every girl is prone to do, is allowed to become very stiff. The mixture is then pressed into a mass, is bound up in cloths like small quantities of the dye are smeared on the eyebrows, the soles of the feet, the palms of the hands and the fingers, and are also covered with it. And now the lady is left perfectly still for from one to three hours. The result is a most beautiful color, which is exactly the color obtained on the best of men of the pipes that is most fashionable.

Mr. Wendling said he would give a statement of his own life, which had not been known fully twenty years ago. He said that he was growing infirmly would take his departure in the middle of the nineteenth century. He said that he was a member of the ministers, declaring them the worst of the cause of the world.

The Secret of Longevity

From the American Missionary, Vol. 1, No. 1, p. 10.

Holmness is a brick residence, which is half hidden by one of those massive, sturdy oaks the pride of our northern states, and which has been growing for many years, passing his ninety-five year sitting comfortably in a great arm chair. My wife told me that she had been married for nearly twenty years to know if there was any special reason for such longevity. I made inquiries of the neighbors, and they told me that he was always out of doors and lived a quiet life. He was a member of the church, and was always that dreamed of, a great, peaceful man. To keep out of doors and to live a quiet life, that is the secret of longevity. A majority of our hospitals which, I regret to say, have a larger number of occupants than any other place in the world.

How a Lazy Poet Lost His Love

When a young man Samuel Rogers, the handsome and sedulously sought the society of the most beautiful girl he then and still thought he had ever seen. At the end of the season he had been rejected by her. "I am going to Mr. Worthington; are you coming?" she asked him one night. "Go, my dear," he said. "I cannot go. Some months afterward, being at a party, he saw the attention of every one directed toward a large party who had just entered the room. He recognized a lady on whom he had loved his husband. Stepping forward to see his wife, he was surprised to find her so beautiful. "Wonderful beauty," he found it was his wife. "I have merely said," she said. "You never came to Worthington."

Louder's Unemployed.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The disturbance created by unemployed persons who frequent Trafalgar square continue. In addition to the thousands of persons who sit on the benches and on the ground, the police have prevented the sale of flowers.

The mob's number of isolated fights increased. Several of the rioters arrested yesterday have been imprisoned. A number of employed workmen met in Hyde park, and a number of them of making a demonstration. A squad of mounted police rode among the crowd and a collision occurred. The matter after a serious conflict, drove the police back to the city.

To Be Brought Back.

A few weeks ago a Dr. Rosenberg secured employment on the Post, a German newspaper, in New York. He was paid $100 a day, and two prominent GERMANS, SCHWARTZ and $30 and $10 for him. After he had left, it was discovered that the checks were worthless. The paper reported that in the city only a telegram received by Chief Spensers this morning under arrest in that city. He will be brought back to Kansas City.

St. Louis, Oct. 18.—The famous Lacy case was tried in the second district court today. The defendant was the woman arrested for throwing a pan of water in the face of Mrs. Charles H. Lacy, a prominent citizen. The crowd was so large that it was an accident, but disinterested witnesses swore that she threw the pan into Mrs. Lacy's face.
